

Welcome the 2015-2018 ADEC Executive Board Members

The American Distance Education Consortium (ADEC) introduces the Executive Board members for 2015 to 2018. Executive board members include:

- Dr. Oliver Grundmann
- Dr. Jennifer Dennis
- Cindy Hart
- Andrew Lau
- Dianna Fisher
- Ann-Louise Everett

Dr. Oliver Grundmann is a Clinical Associate Professor and the Program Director at the University of Florida. Oliver serves as the Executive Chair of the American Distance Education Consortium for 2015-2018.

Dr. Jennifer Dennis is a professor and Associate Dean of the Graduate School at Oregon State University in Corvallis, Oregon. Dr. Dennis serves as a co-chair for the collaboration and diversity committee within ADEC. Her varied skills and expertise will assist in the achievement of close collaboration between academia, industry and government.

Cindy Hart is the Director of Online Programs at West Virginia University. As co-chair for the best practices committee within ADEC, Cindy's 20 years of extensive experience and knowledge in online learning help lead and share the best practices for online education.

Andrew Lau serves as co-chair for the best practices committee within ADEC alongside Hart. The Program Director for Instructional Content Development at the University of California – Los Angeles (UCLA) Extension, Andrew has developed and implemented proven strategy around the development and production of instructional assets for online learning.

Dianna Fisher is the Director of Open Oregon State at Oregon State University. Open Oregon State is an open educational resources program that focuses on understanding module development, reusable digital components, and open textbooks. The overall goal is to share knowledge. Dianna is co-chair for the collaboration and diversity committee within ADEC.

Finally, Ann-Louise Everett, the Chief Operating Officer at Apollidon Learning, LLC., services as co-chair for the outreach and marketing committee within ADEC. Apollidon Learning is a strategic marketing company whose mission is to help universities build and maintain successful online programs. With this partnership, opportunities are offered to help member universities grow student enrollments in both online and hybrid programs.